London, July 17.—The Radical agitation in Italy against Austria's gains at Berlin and in favor of acquisition of the trentino et cetera, is becoming so prominent that the government is apprehensive of its effect on Austrian susceptibilities. A manifesto published in the Diretta, the ministerial journal, declaring that the Anglo-Turkish Convention causes us much anxiety, and an opportunity will not be wanted to set forth quietly and at length grounds of our distrust and repugnance. It is an attempt to turn public attention from the dangerous subject of Austria's success to that of the English acquisition of Cyprus, the discussion of which is not likely to give trouble, especially as the manifesto declares that Italy could not at Berlin, and cannot elsewhere attempt to hinder British action, on which all other powers acted.

Senat rial Reminiscences. The Clingman Interview with the Observer---Re-published as an Exchange of Journalistic Courtesies.

Raleigh Observer, June 20. Few men live, or have lived, whose words the people of North Carolina would rather hear than those of Gen. T. L. Clingman. why I should not give you my opinions on the general questions involved. I do not desire to be it understood as intending to take part in any contest between individuals nor to help or to ourt any aspirant. We all understand that the Constitution gives the right to choose Senators to the Legislatures of the States, not to

Even a more serious objection suggests itself in this, that such a custom, to resort to such stratagems to secure his elevation. Such former Senators as Mangum, Graham, Badger, Bragg and others that might be named would no more thought of ie octing to such movements than they would of attempting to induce a Sheriff to pick out such jurors as would promise to find a verdict in their favor. In my opinion the members of the Legislature when they choose a Senator should be free to select the try a case.

Q. Do you think a man's being an him an advantage? A. Not in the least; and such has not been the view in this State. Gov. Reid, for example, was superse led by Gov. Bragg, of the same party. Though in 1858 I was nominated by acclamation, yet in 1860 several prominent men entered the lists against me in the canvass. It has always been any one pledged to me before his elecunderstood that the incumbent took his chances like any one else, and was In two instances men who were merely to be re elected if he was pledged to vote against me, were for

A. No weight whatever has heretofore been attached to such a consideration in this State. In 1842 Bedford Brown was the nominee of the Democratic caucus, yet Judge Saunders opposed him, and after a struggle which lasted many weeks, drove him from the track, and Wm. H. Haywood was elected. Though Mr. Brown had thus been beaten, and was in fact a candidate against me in 1860, yet the party de-

In 1852 a still more remarkable case occurred. Mr. Dobbin was the nominee of the party, and yet Judge Saunders and Col. R. G. A. Love voted against him for months, he sometimes coming within a vote or two of an election. Mr. Dobbin was finally withdrawn and I was put in nomication. I came near being elected, and it became evident that if another ballot could be had I would have been chosen. Thereupon, as the day for adjournment had been fixed and was near, my political opponents threatened to fillibuster till the end of the session. They thus prevented an election. At that session Mr. Dobbiu was thus defeated and I was, by the adjournment, left as the regular nominee of the party, and yet when the next Legisla-ture assembled they passed over both Mr. Dobbin and myself, and elected Reid and Biggs.

A. Not at all; in fact the question has more than once been settled the other way in this State. Gov. Graham was elected and received the entire vote of the Legislature except thirteen members only. He went to Washington and was refused the seat, and yet in 1870, though urged as a candidate he was not elected. On that occasion it is well known that Senators Merrimon and Ransom and Gov. Vance were all present and not only did not recognize Gov. Graham's claim, but were candidates themselves.

Again in 1872 neither the claims of Gov. Graham nor Judge Manly, who had both been elected and refused their seats, were recognized by the Legisla-

The rule heretofore acted on in this State has been for the Legislature to select those whose talents and public spirit seemed likely to render them the ablest Senators.

As county conventions and meetings are often controlled by a few artful managers, they seldom reflect the views we differ with his utterances, now as in times past, all of us know that what he save is well worth beginn that what he mental in bringing forward men who could not obtain position on their own merits. When we see a man carried along the streets on a stretcher, we know that that man is lame. If he were not he would rather walk along himself than be carried. So a man of merit would rather be elected as the free choice of his fellow citizens than be toted into office. If legislation of late has not been satisfactory, it may in part be due to this practice which seldem brings forward the best men. Though I was elected to both branches of our Legislature, and for fourteen years to Congress, I was never nominated for any one of those places.

When in the Senate of the State in gum, the Hon. Wm. A. Graham, the Hon. Lewis Williams and the Hon. Wm. B. Shepard, all addressed us on the political issues of the day. After hearing them we adjourned for several days, and then met and made our selections. Had we been pledged to any candidate, their speaking to us would have been as farcical as it would be for a party to open his case to a jury that had already decided against him.
In fact a man already pledged cannot fairly go into a consultation with others who are impartial and pretend to confer with them. He is like a gambler, who plays for the money of other people without staking his own. At best he resembles a juror who decides his verdict after hearing only one witness, while there are a dozen others to be examined whose evidence is important. I observe the statement in some of the papers that the members ought to be pledged, to prevent their misrepresenting the people. To avoid this let honorable and wise men be chosen. Tricky men can find excuses for doing what they please to do. Farmers in Buncombe, when they turn their stock out into the range, often crop or split the ears of horned cattle and brand their colts with a hot iron. I hope the time has not yet arrived when it is branded with any letter from A to Z, the alphabet. As to these gentlemen themselves, without disparaging either of them, I think it may fairly be said that they have no advantage over several others in the State, except that for the last fifteen years they have been more persistently seekers of high office, perhaps, han any of their fellow-citizens.

Making continual claim, as the lawyers say, does not give a man a title to political office. Nor does the fact that the people have given a man an office place them under any obligation to give him another or re-elect him. There seems to be an attempt by the partisans of these gentlemen, by conbest man as a jury which is required to stantly placing them in antagonism to be impartial when it is empanelled to each other, to create the impression stantly placing them in antagonism to that they possess some sort of preem nence or claim over others. Anthony incumbens in the office ought to give and Octavius divided the Roman Em pire between them in its state of decay, but though North Carolina suffered greatly by the war, she is still too large and too strong to be carried in the pocket of one man or even divided between two.

Though I was myself twice elected to that reason beaten by my friends. If a man pledged, should be opposed by a respectable candidate who was not pledged, I should give the preference to the latter, upon the same principle that I would reject a man as a juror who had formed and expressed an opinion.

There is a sense of justice in the minds of the people, that if properly appealed to, will induce them to prefer fair and honest dealing to political contrivances and artful strategy.

Should the members of the Legislature decide to hold a caucus, it seems clear that those only can fairly meet to consult together whose minds are open to conviction. A man who has already pledged himself has no right to pretend o unite with others for a fair consultation, when his hands have already been tied. Like a juror who has already formed and expressed an opinion, he should stand aside. In complying with your request, I have thus given my opinions as they are entertained, without considering whether they may prove agreeable to the aspiriants and their friends, or otherwise. I hope the people of the State will elect the best men they can secure, and that when assembled they will choose that person whose talents and fidelity to the public interests will make him the best Sena-

Cook requested to act as Secretary and Mr. J. D. Paylor as Assistant. Dr. Hay was then called on to explain the object of the meeting, but declined, calling on Mr. P. A. Wil-son, who declined. Dr. Martin was then requested to explain, but replied that he knew not the object himself, but had come to learn, yet responded in a speech in which he expressed his personal views, which seemed to be in accordance with the "Nationals." Mr. Martin Morgan then arose, and stated that there were but three planks in the National platform viz:-1st. Repeal of the Resumption act. 2d. Repeal of the National bankin

3d. Repeal of the Internal Revenue

L'Exposition Universelle a Paris-- A National Fete--Illuminations and Pageants--The United States at the Exposition--Our Own State Represented.

Paris Le ter to the News.

PARIS, July 1st. Yesterday was the grand National Fete day. In the time of Napoleon III it was celebrated June 15th, but since his death has been observed on the 30th June. The ceremonies began at 6 a. m. The booming of artillery was cribe in words the appearance presented by the city. The windows of our hotel, the Continental, overlook the gardens of the Tuileries, the Rue Rivoli, the Place de la Concorde, Champs Elysees, Place Vendome, Palais d' Industrie and the old Church of the Madeleine.

All the houses, public buildings, parks, river banks and bridges, were llumined at night by myriads of glowng, flashing lights. The Bois de Boulogne, with its islands, chalets, its lakes covered with hundreds of boats dressed with flags, all brought into clear relief by the powerful brilliancy of the electric light; the Champs Elysees, with its far reaching space garlanded with countless gas jets for miles; an innumerable multitude and infinite variety of Bengal lights, and many - colored fire-works; the finest music;—all these combined splendors made the occasion one never to be erased from the memory by any lapse of time or any degree of forgetfulness. I visit the grand Exposition daily

The exhibition of the United States is one not only cred table to our great country, but one which does not suffer by comparison with others. In my opinion, we are third in the list of countries exhibiting, France taking first rank, Great Britain and her depencies second. All are fully represented save Germany. Taking the Exhibition collectively, it is far in advance of any of its predecessors. The arrangement of the buildings is judicious, while their designs are in greater part exquisite. England will probably hold the next of these great World's Fairs. Her people manifest much interest in this one, and she is better represented here in the number of her visitors than any other power.

The warmth of the weather has been intense, unusually so, but is more pleasant now. In a week more we will probably "do" the Exposition, and then will journey into Holland, the land of "Dikes and Ditches," where dust and uncleanliness are unknown things.

Heavy Orders for Tobacco-Political--Matrimonial--General Prosperity. Correspondence of the News.

DURHAM, July 17. Since the National law-makers decided to cease the tom-foolery of agita-tating the tax question, orders for the world-renowned Durham smoking tobacco have been pouring in from all quarters, and consequently the faces of our energetic manufacturers are wreathed in smiles, whlie their exchecquers jingle with the "dollars of our daddies." Since Congress adjourned W. T. Blackwell & Co., who are always in the lead, have shipped in the neighborhood of 200,000 lbs., of their genuine Durham, paying to the Government within this short period, a revenue of about forty-five thousand dollars. The rest of the manufacturers are, also, doing a thriving business.

OUR WAREHOUSES are having now a comparatively dull season, owing to the fact that the continued dry weather has rendered the leaf unfit for marketing. As soon as we are blessed with copious showers, the planters, who recognize Durham as the best market, and appreciate the efforts of our warehousemen to do them full justice, will drive in by scores from this and adjoining counties.

are now engaging the attention of our people, and in the coming election Orange will, as heretofore, roll up a handsome majority for the Democratic ticket. The irrepressible Josiah Turner, Jr., will come out as an independent candidate for the House. Beyond this, it is thought, our county will not be infected by the troublesome political epidemic of so-called independency. It was at one time rumored that some of the friends of Mr. J. We would not detract one aiota from the just meed of praise won by our present able and efficient representative, nor would we speak disparagingly of the competency of the several gentlemen spoken of in connection with the nomination, but we do say, candidly and honestly, that we believe the guardianship of the interests of this tobacco district could be placed in no more worthy or capable hands than those of Julian S. The ostensible, distinctive feature of The ostensible, distinctive feature of the Nationals is Greensbacks—a lone only danger that threatens our public issue by itself, and not alluring enough to tempt to the rupture of the old organizations. The currency platform of the Democratic party is liberal enough if carried out, which is in a fair way of being done. And otherwise, we do not see that the Democratic party can come under the definition given by Col. W. as one "content to continue a useless strife on issues born of other times and other conditions." On the contrary, the issues the Democratic party has to meet are very full of vitality, and becoming more life-like as the shadow of By Telegraph to the News. Grantism looms up again in the horizon. The introduction of the Nationals in the South will only make that shadow grow the more ominous. Any loss to the Democratic party adds to the strength of the Republicans. If Col. Winston wishes to put the Democratic party "out of date," let him go ahead. But we know that is not his wish if the Republican party is to be reinstated, and therefore expect him to reconsider, and stand by his party nominations.

Radical Tactics.

Danbury Reporter. Competition in business or politics is never objectionable, provided it is open, candid and honorable. The arguing of facts and the advocacy of principles be-fore the people is a real benefit to the public, affording instruction to the masses, and drawing out individual re-flection. But when false issues are raised, deception resorted in, and efforts made to excite prejudice, the benefits of a public campaign are materially decreased; and instead of being an appeal to the intelligence of the public, i becomes simply a scramble for office.

If the people of Stokes were opposed to the Radical Civil Rights bill, they should ask the candidates if they were not once in favor of that measure, and it they did not endeavor to defend it. If the people of Stokes are true to the Government established by their forefathers, if they value liberty and prize the rights that belong to us a free peo-ple, let them ask candidates if they ever expressed a desire to see General Grant declared Emperor rather than Democrats should choose their own officers. If the people of Stokes are opposed to negro ascendancy, and are sensitive to political degradation, let them inquire of the candidates if any of of them ever expressed a desire to see Jim Harris Governor of North Carolina The public have a right to ask these question, and candidates should not be permitted to shirk an answer from the stump.

We daresay that no town in the State of its size is at this time showing such tangible evidences of prosperity as Durham. "Up ward and onward" is her motto, and upward and onward the invincible energy of her peeple will bear her.

Julian S. Carr, of Orange. for Congress. would then again seek the window where he thrust in the paper. The d-ficial returns of the election that fall declare that Bunty's Gulch cast 450 votes, and that nine-tenths of them were cast for the candidates of one party-and the successful one.

Worth Attention.

There is another lesson for our socialistic reformers in the recent experience of Switzerland. The loss of the American trade had thrown so many watchmakers out of employment that the government set up a factory at Geneva, paying three hundred workmen seven-ty-six cents each per day while at work, and half as much when idle. The official report which has now been made shows that a watch produced in a government shop costs ten or twelve times what it can be made for at private manufacture. The Swiss Govern-ment has also tried building roads, to provide wages for the unemployed, and it is found that work which the engineers estimated at a maximum of 12,-000 francs has cost 138,000 francs. Add to all this the moral cost, in the effect npon the laborers who are coddled in this way, and it will be seen that public improvements are an expensive means of relieving distress. And yet the government of Switzerland is vastly better organized than ours and not unaccustomed to work of this kind.

The Work Done at Berlin.

Under this head the World contains a careful review of the work of the European Congress which has just ad journed. Lord Beacon field has rehabilitated England as an European power which have not been permitted to and given her prestige and a position such as she has not enjoyed since the days of Pitt.

The English Premier's policy has man who declared that Britain was an interest of Democratic division and dis-Oriental nation, and of the chief of a party which has combated persistently the views of Bright and of Goldwin Smith. After striking an impartial balance, one must incline to the belief ate in 1870, to require the enlightenthat the importation of the Indian troops has advantaged England. It has Clingman may possess on the subject. flattered native pride, soothed the Mahometan population, which sympathized with the Sultan and was prepared to resent the abandonment of his cause by England, and proved that in quisition of Cyprus is a natural seand an assurance that England's presprotectorates or the alienation of colonists, while ample evidence has been evoked that in the event of war Canada and Australia would contribute largely and loyally to the support of the empire. As nothing succeeds like success, it will not be surprising if at the general election which will soon take place the Conservatives achieve such a victory over the divided and downcast Liberals as shall secure them in power for many

And it is in no grudging mood that this paper affords its readers the opportunity of seeing and measuring this campaign document, put out to influence the public mind regarding the Senatorial election next winter, and having already received treatment in these columns, the reader will now the more readily comprehend the matter. The design of the publication was but poorly concealed by its author, and having been supplemented with another both stand out in bold relief as deliberate assaults upon Governor Vance, go unnoticed by his friends, and should not fail to meet with rebuke at the hands of every friend of the Democratic party, for these publications, been such as was to be expected of the though aimed at one man, are in the

Just how far the people have deter mined to go in vindication of a well settled purpose of public sentiment, thwarted first by Radical malevolence and again defeated by Radical power, backed up by a handful of refractory years to come.

The work of the Congress has been done rapidly and earnestly. To reverse the mot applied to the great Congress of Vienna, it has moved but not danced.

The spirit of its members has been expression of their own that of its President Democrats, it is for the people themselves to say in the majesty of their power and the free expression of their will. The Route to India.

Nothing more forcibly illustrates how much smaller science is making the world than the distance between England and her greatest colony, India, where 250 millions of men are subject to British rule. Up to eight years ago the only route open was that round the Cape of Good Hope, an all sea route of over fifteen thousand miles, occupying weeks by steam, and months by sail from pleading the provisions of that vessels, in its transit.

In 1870, or thereabouts, the Suez Canal was opened, which shortened the distance to six thousand five hundred miles (less than half the distance) of which six hundred miles to Marseilles were by rail and five thousand seven hundred miles thence by sea.

The proposed new railroad from opposite Cyprus to the head of the Persian Gulf, to be known as the Euphrates Valley Railroad, which England now proposes to build and complete within two years' time, will further shorten this to five thousand five hundred miles -a saving of one thousand interview in the Observer of the twen- miles. In making these calculations we have counted from London to Bombay. A strict air line between the two points would measure 4,500 miles and pass directly through Constantinople. The Euphrates Valley Reilroad will be 850 miles in length.

VEGETINE.

The Very Best Medicine. -FOR-

DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION. NEWTON, N. H., March 27, 1877. MR. H. R. STEVENS:—
Dear Sir,—ince more I take the pen to praise that king of medicines, Vegetine. When I bega to take Veg tine two years ago wit such marked benefit, my friends Dear Sir.— has more I take the pen to praise that king of medicines, Vegetine. When I began to take Veg tine two years ago wit such marked benefit, my friends thought it was a stimulant effect, and would soon subside, leaving me as bad as before. Thinking that some of those who read the testimobial which I wrote at that time, might think the same, I write once more to satisfy them on that point. Since I began to take vegetine, almost two years ago, I havegained steadily until the present time, at which I am enjoying my former health, and consider myself cured by Vegetine. Two years ago I was as low as man could be and live. I was confined to the bed for eight months, and given up o die by eight doctors some of the most skuited in this state. They said I had several diseases, including consumption, heart disease, and several others, equally tatal, and must die. But Vegetine, taken as a last resort, brought me through, and to that I one my life. Since my health began to improve, I have made a study of disease, and find the cause of all my symptoms to have been Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and I also find that five cases of disease of every six, are effects of the same cause, when the food is not properly digested in the stomach, it becomes a poisonous, putrid mass, which is absorted into the blood, and by that it is conveyed to all parts of the system, causing symptoms of disease in any or all of the organs of the body, and if this cause is not removed, these symptoms become in time organic diseases. I have given Vegetine a thorough test in my own case, and also in that of many of my acquaintances, and find it to be the very best medicine extant for Dyspepsia or indigestion, one of the symptoms of which is usually the belief that you have some fatal organic disease. I am well known in the towns of Cioffstown, Weare, and Newton of this State (N. H.), and can furnish an underliable corroboration of all of these statements. I will willingly answer any letters of inquiry in regard to my case, or the use of Vegetine.

HUMORS ON THE FACE. In this condition of the skin, the Vegetine is the great remedy, as it acts directly upon the blood. It cleanses and purifies the blood, thereby causing humors to disappear. By internal treatment all impurities are thrown out. OUR MUSEUMS.

Agricultural and Geological---Pleasures of a Visit -- Extent and Variety of the Exhibitions. Two places, a visit to either of which proves at once attractive and profitable, are the Geological and Agricultural Museums, both in the Briggs Building, Fayetteville street. Desiring to improve a leisure hour, a formal visit was paid both yesterday.

In the Agricultural Museum the exhibits have been carefully arranged by the hands of Col. Polk, Capt. Robinson, and Mr. E. F. Smith. Although many of the compartments, of which each county has one, are either unfilled or entirely vacant, yet the display made is such as to give just cause for pride to every true son of the State. The counties are arranged as to their compartments, in alphabetical order. Beginning at the first and continuing the examination, the reporter jotted down those things whose exhibition on the shelves was especially notable or marked as to quality, being particularly Alamance exhibits good wheat and millet; Alexander shows corn, wheat and tobacco; Anson, millet, corn and wheat; three peaches which fill a half gallon jar, also some fine specimens of woods; Beaufort, cereals, onions of great size, and Irish potatoes; Bertie, pecan nuts; Buncombe, bright tobacco, corn, Irish potatoes; Cabarrus, choice wheat in great variety; Caswell, oats and tobacco; Catawba, bright tobacco, cereals, grasses, also collection of dried fruit; Chatham, coal, building stones, cereals; Craven, the finest tobacco, cereals, marine curiosities, some useful; Cumberland, insects, mounted, rosin and turpentine in all grades, cereals; Duplin, hanging moss, for matrasses, &c., woods, shells and marls for use as fertilizers; Edgecombe, Irish potatoes; Forsythe, dried fruits, grains, flour and meal, corn and tobacco. The exhibit is so varied as to be particularly noticeable. Among the curiosities is a bunch of wheat stalks, 209 in number, produced by a single grain.

Continuing the examination we noticed the displays of Gates, cereals; Greene, shells, marls, cereals; Guilford, tobacco, grains in infinite variety, essential oils &c., building stones, cereals, also the best hickory axehandles made in the country, (these are shipped north and then sent back to the State to be sold;) Halifax, wines, millet, cereals Hertford, oats and millet; Jackson, minerals, ores etc.; Johnston, oats, rice, Chinese sorghum, Irish potatoes; Lenoir, bright tobacco, cereals; Macon, magnificent plates of mica, marble, for buildings, stones, some specimens being exquisite in color, asbestos; McDowell, building stones, cereals; Mecklenburg, millet, dried fruits, cereals; Montgomery, all varieties of cereals, building —The Raleigh Light Infantry, it is understood, are to go to the Catawba Irish potatoes; Nash, cereals, clover; Onslow, tobacco, rice; Orange, cereals in great variety, and notably fine, Irish potatoes, tobacco; Pamlico, sweet potatoes; Pasquotank, cereals; Pender, woods, shingles; Person, tobacco, dark quietness, there being no trials at the and bright; Pitt, maris, cereals; Randolph, woods, grasses, cereals, ores; Rowan, gold and copper ores, cereals, Surry, clover; Wake, Irish potatoes, at this office. cotton seed oil cake, cereals. fection. Passing from the Agricultural to the Geological Museum, we find the latter in charge of Prof. W. C. Kerr, who is ably assisted by Mr. T. C. Harris, The latter gentleman is markedly attentive to visitors, and well informed as to the exhibition. Among the curiosities are the fine specimens of the woods of Brazil, given Prof. Kerr by the Commissioner of that country at the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia. Other foreign countries have likewise contributed of their vegetable and mineral wealth; China has given 200 specimens of cloth, a like number of paper, and about 500 bottles of vegetable and mineral products, seeds etc. Brazil has sent coffees, an infinite variety of medium in the secondary of medium in the secondary in obstinate cases to use it with persistency.

Jy 46-6t Among the curiosities are the fine an infinite variety of products, india rubber as it comes from the tree, cocoa-nuts in like state, silk cocoons, silk, cotton etc. Egypt shows 200 varieties of seeds. France has donated rarest brandies wines, oils, &c. Russia has contributed grains; Italy, cereals, wines, &c. The Colonies of Great Britain are well represented; Australia by over 50 specimens of wools; Liberia, Sweden, Spain and Portugal show cereals, cigars, &c., while Algiers sends jute, grasses, &c.

The exhibits of these countries are neatly cased and readily inspected. No one should fail to see them. Looking at the products of North Carolina, as shown, we are struck by the appearance of the largest crystal in the world. It is of feldspar, weighs $00 pounds, and came from the base of Mt. Mitchell. The building stones of the State, as well as all the woods, are beautifully prepared for exhibition. Among the minerals, which are artistically displayed, are five emeralds, weighing many pounds, from Mitchell county, natural gold leaves, from Burke county, besides an uncountable quantity of other valuable stones and ores. A sheet of mica, the largest ever cut, 12x16 inches, is shown, from Yancy county. 'A rope made of hickory splits, from Wilkes county is a curiosity. New cases are now being erected for the exhibit of woods, and fishes of the State. This will add much to the already attractive appearance of this Museum. The number of visitors to these places, which are so worthy of a visit, is not so large as it should be.
